WHY IDM?

OBJECTIVES

Target Audience:
Prospective undergraduate and graduate students interested in creative technology, design, and emerging media.

Goals:

- Introduce the IDM program in a simple, visually engaging way.
- Increase awareness of what students can learn in IDM.
- Showcase the interdisciplinary nature of the program (AR, XR, sound, wearables, AI, creative coding, etc.).
- Make the program feel approachable and exciting for students unfamiliar with IDM.

2 PROCESS: FOLLOW TRENDS AND CAPTURE THE MUNDANE

CONTENT FORMAT: MOSTLY REELS / 1 STATIC POST

Creative Strategy:

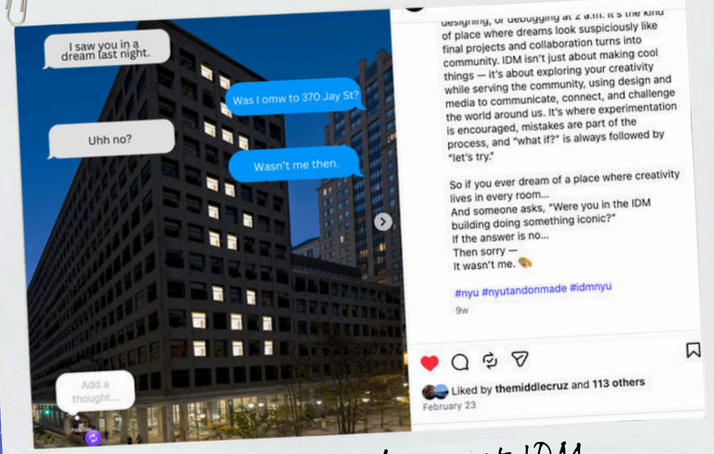

- Used a rapid montage/high-energy visual style to capture attention quickly.
- Included examples of student work and IDM tools/technologies.
- Added concise text overlays explaining what IDM is and what students create.

Featured Topics/Projects:

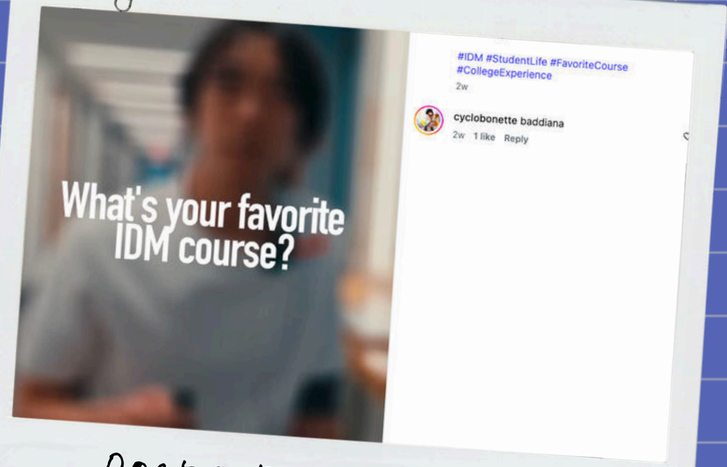

- AR/XR experiences
- AI creative tools
- Wearables
- Data visualization
- Sound/media projects

Why this approach:

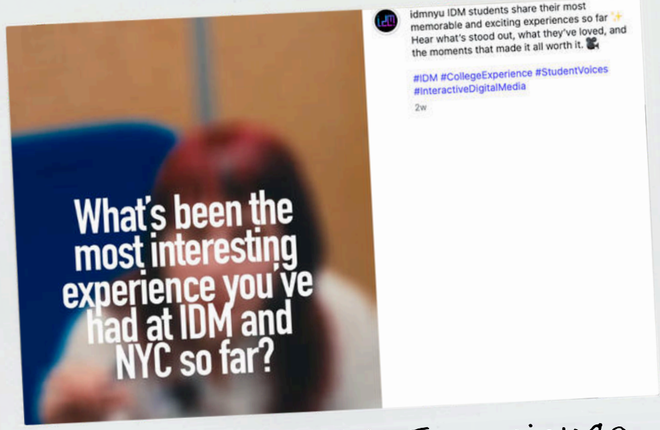

- Prospective students scroll quickly, so content needed to be visually dynamic and easy to understand in under 30 seconds/ 1 minute.

INSTAGRAM ANALYTICS FOR INDIVIDUAL POST

FIND ME AT IDM

Posted: February 23, 2026

Goals:

- Reintroduce the IDM program to new audiences
- Build program identity and brand awareness
- Showcase IDM as more than an academic program: a creative community and collaborative space
- Increase engagement through relatable and personality-driven storytelling

Performance Analysis:

- Strong impressions indicate the post was successfully distributed and seen by a broad audience.
- Reach shows the content extended beyond just highly engaged followers.
- 114 likes suggest positive passive engagement and content appreciation.
- 0 comments indicates users engaged lightly but were not strongly prompted to start conversations.

FIND ME AT IDM

Performance Analysis:

- Strong impressions indicate the post was successfully distributed and seen by a broad audience.
- Reach shows the content extended beyond just highly engaged followers.
- 114 likes suggest positive passive engagement and content appreciation.
- 0 comments indicates users engaged lightly but were not strongly prompted to start conversations.

What worked:

Strong brand voice and personality
Emotional storytelling made IDM feel human and community-oriented
Good visibility and above-average awareness performance

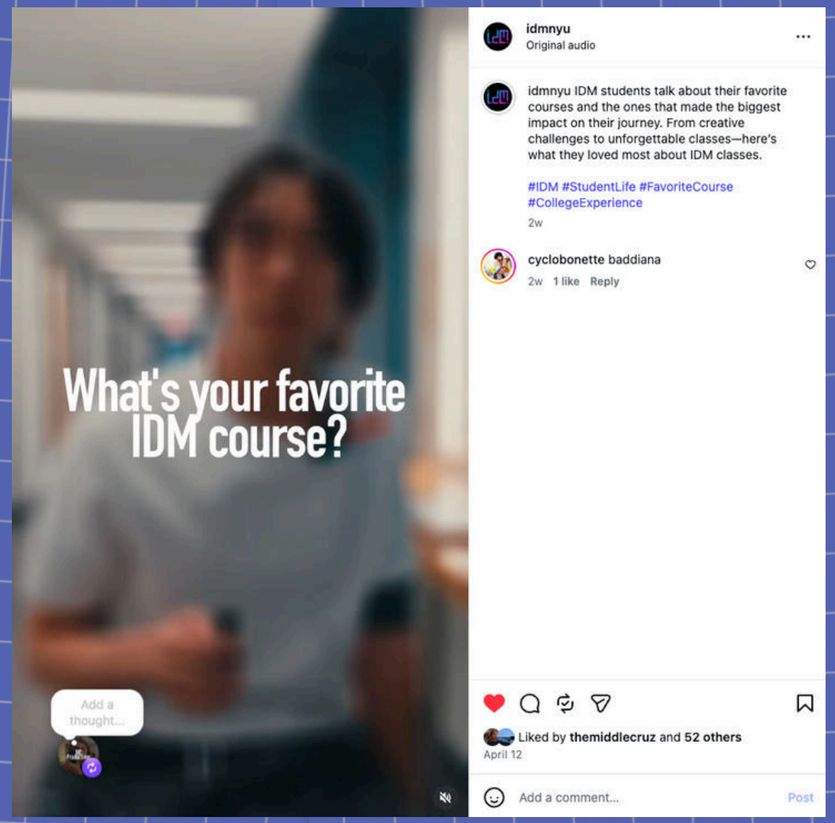

What could improve:

Caption was relatively long, which may reduce retention on social media
No clear CTA (call to action) for comments or shares

BEST IDM COURSE AND FAV EXPERIENCE

BEST IDM COURSE AND FAV EXPERIENCE

Takeaway:

- Student-centered emotional content resonates well with audiences who do see it, but may need stronger hooks or distribution support for broader reach.

THE POST PERFORMED WELL BECAUSE IT PROVIDED PRACTICAL VALUE TO PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS, WITH STUDENT RECOMMENDATIONS ADDING CREDIBILITY WHILE ALSO ACHIEVING STRONGER REACH AND VISIBILITY. FOR FUTURE IMPROVEMENTS, THE CONTENT COULD INCLUDE COURSE VISUALS OR PROJECT EXAMPLES ALONGSIDE INTERVIEWS AND A CLEARER CALL TO ACTION, SUCH AS ASKING VIEWERS WHICH COURSE THEY WOULD WANT TO TAKE. NEXT TIME, THIS CONCEPT COULD BE EXPANDED INTO A CAROUSEL FORMAT OR SPLIT INTO INDIVIDUAL COURSE HIGHLIGHTS TO CREATE MORE SHAREABLE AND ENGAGING CONTENT.

Takeaway:

- Academic-focused content appears to attract broader audience interest, likely because prospective students actively seek course-related information.

Analysis:

- Significantly higher reach than Favorite Experience (2,079 vs 749)
- More impressions and likes suggest stronger content distribution and broader audience interest
- First post here to generate a comment, showing slightly higher conversation value
- Takeaway:
- Academic-focused content appears to attract broader audience interest, likely because prospective students actively seek course-related information.

WHY IDM WHITEBOARD

idmnyu Why IDM? Because it's where creativity meets technology—and ideas turn into impact.

At NYU Tandon School of Engineering's Integrated Design & Media program, students don't just learn—they build, experiment, explore, and push boundaries. From AR/VR and motion capture to social impact, assistive tech, and even collaborations with NASA Jet Propulsion Laboratory, this is where design shapes the future.

Different backgrounds. Same drive to create. ✨ #IDM #NYUTandon #CreativeTechnology #DesignAndTech

WHAT COULD IMPROVE:

INCLUDE MORE STUDENT TESTIMONIALS OR PROJECT VISUALS FOR RELATABILITY

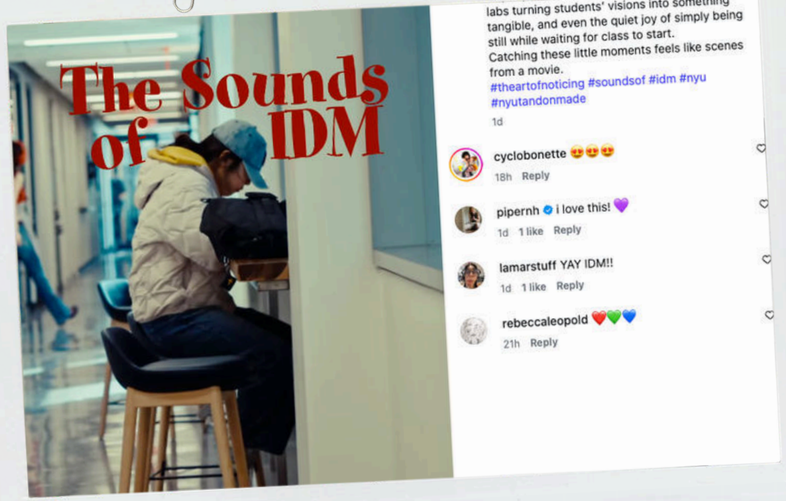

THE POST EFFECTIVELY COMMUNICATED THE IDM BRAND IDENTITY AND SHOWCASED PROGRAM OPPORTUNITIES BY PORTRAYING STUDENTS IN THEIR OWN CREATIVE SPACE

REFLECTIONS & LEARNINGS FROM THIS SEMESTER

What worked well:

Execution of content plan, our intentions for each post was clear

- Learned that social media content performs best when balancing informational content with authentic storytelling.
- Student-focused posts (favorite courses, experiences, testimonials) generated stronger engagement because they felt more relatable and credible to prospective students.
- Program-focused posts were effective for brand awareness, reach, and communicating IDM's identity, but typically generated lower interaction.
- Clear calls to action (CTAs) are important for encouraging comments, shares, and stronger audience participation.
- Shorter, more concise captions and stronger opening visuals/hooks can help improve retention and engagement.
- Combining student stories with project visuals or course highlights makes content feel both informative and personal.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR ATTENTION!
